HISTORICAL

Colonial Beach is situated in Westmoreland County, on the famous banks of the "quiet" Potomac River. It is the birthplace of George Washington, the Father of this country; of Gen. Robert E. To visit the birthplace of these distinguished Virginians is indeed to stand upon the sacred soil and worship at the shrine of these illustrious men whose names adorn the pages of the grand history of Virginia. We invite you to the balmy breezes which blow fresh from the ocean, to the beautiful headland spread out to your view, the cliffs which mark the spot where Washington and Lee first saw the light of this world; to the sea-food which will delight your palates, and furnish phosphorus for your tired brain, and cause you to forget your cares and responsibilities and return to your places of business and homes, refreshed with renewed vitality.
